

MODULE COCKPIT SECURITY AND INFOTAINMENT ENGINEER

ATEXIS is an international company dedicated to Customer Support Engineering activities. As a “Solution” subsidiary of the ALLEN Group, ATEXIS combines the skills of 800 collaborators united within a network of subsidiaries based in France, Germany, Romania and India.

As a technological partner reference for the biggest companies nationwide and worldwide, in 25 years ALLEN has become the European leader in engineering and consulting services. Composed of 18400 collaborators (with 88% of engineers) – Settled in 20 countries – 1.3 M€ turnover.

We are recruiting Module Cockpit Security and Infotainment Engineers.

Main responsibilities:

- Supplier development follow up: planning review, project reporting, conducting supplier meetings
- Follow the development process for different components of the dashboard (infotainment, telematics and other vehicle functions)
- Lead technical meetings with all the suppliers involved in development phase (electrical switches, radio communications, voice recognition, security data transfer)
- Interfacing with different clients managers and specialists (project manager, designer, safety specialist)
- Analyzing validation test results and/or fault reports
- Pre-manufacturing tools and process set-up
- Following up the referencing configuration of hardware and software parts

Requirements:

- Basic knowledge in telematics technologies and electromechanical integration
- Basic knowledge in embedded system and automotive electrical and electronic architecture (CAN network, ECU)
- Very good organizational skills, able to prioritize and meet tight deadlines
- Good communication and decision making skills
- Open-minded and results oriented
- A medium/advanced level of English/French is required

What we offer:

- Professional development opportunities within the company
- Competitive Salary and Benefits
- Foreign language courses, trainings
- Health and Wellness

You can apply online through eJobs or send your application directly to office@atexis.ro

TEST PLAN REDACTION ENGINEER

ATEXIS is an international company dedicated to Customer Support Engineering activities. As a “Solution” subsidiary of the ALTEN Group, ATEXIS combines the skills of 800 collaborators united within a network of subsidiaries based in France, Germany, Romania and India.

As a technological partner reference for the biggest companies nationwide and worldwide, in 25 years ALTEN has become the European leader in engineering and consulting services. Composed of 18400 collaborators (with 88% of engineers) – Settled in 20 countries – 1.3 M€ turnover.

We are recruiting Test Plan Redaction Engineers.

Main responsibilities:

- Client’s conception document analysis
- Necessary workload estimation considering tight deadlines and the expected quality
- Test plan redaction for different vehicle functions
- Drawing-up test results reports
- Analyze anomalies form
- Work related reports

Requirements:

- Graduated in SW or embedded systems
- Good communication skills
- Open-minded and team player
- Reqtify
- Doors
- A medium/advanced level of English/French is required

What we offer:

- Professional development opportunities within the company
- Competitive Salary and Benefits
- Foreign language courses, trainings
- Health and Wellness

You can apply online through BestJobs or send your application directly to office@atexis.ro

ATEXIS is an international company dedicated to Customer Support Engineering activities. As a “Solution” subsidiary of the ALLEN Group, ATEXIS combines the skills of 800 collaborators united within a network of subsidiaries based in France, Germany, Romania and India.

As a technological partner reference for the biggest companies nationwide and worldwide, in 25 years ALLEN has become the European leader in engineering and consulting services. Composed of 18400 collaborators (with 88% of engineers) – Settled in 20 countries – 1.3 M€ turnover.

We are recruiting Function Developer Engineers.

Main responsibilities:

- Functional design and modeling
- Update / create specification and interface documents (external and internal)
- Flow creation/ modification/ allocation on network in EEA
- Schema creation/correction in EEA
- Drawing up E&E architecture diagrams and interface specification
- Constant interaction with the supplier through phone meetings and workshops in order to clarify the client's needs
- Modify existing requirements and creating new ones based on client requests and supplier feedback
- Necessary workload estimation considering tight deadlines and the expected quality

Requirements:

- Knowledge in telematics technologies: connectivity and network (GSM, Bluetooth, GPS, Wi-Fi), map and navigation, audio, radio, phone
- Knowledge in automotive electrical and electronic architecture (CAN, LIN networks, ECUs)
- Knowledge in embedded system (software and hardware) is a plus
- Electric and electronic design tools (EEA, Matlab / Simulink, Catia)
- A medium or advanced level of English/French is required
- MS Office
- Reqtify
- Doors

What we offer:

- Professional development opportunities within the company
- Competitive Salary and Benefits
- Foreign language courses, trainings
- Health and Wellness

Technical Documentation Engineers

ATEXIS is an international company dedicated to Customer Support Engineering activities. As a "Solution" subsidiary of the ALTEN Group, ATEXIS combines the skills of 800 collaborators united within a network of subsidiaries based in France, Germany, Romania and India.

The role: We are looking for candidates to be able to perform the role of Technical documentation engineer.

Main responsibilities:

- Develop technical documentation for aerospace industry
- Taking up customer requirements and expectations
- Researching and applying relevant norms and specifications
- Writing, proofreading and delivering technical documentation, training material and related technical documents
- Researching information on-site, including photo and video documentation and interviewing the customers' technical departments
- Processing of graphics and illustrations according to layout requirements
- Managing translation requirements and supporting in the offer management
- Close technical communication with the customer
- Supporting in creating lessons-learned reports

Requirements:

- Technical University Degree.
- Technical understanding
- Fluent in English
- Computer skills
- Function-specific knowledge
- Team player, flexibility
- Able to express ideas clearly

What we offer:

- Professional development opportunities within the company
- Competitive salary and benefits
- Foreign language courses, trainings
- Health and wellness

You can send your application in English directly to office@atexis.ro.

MECHANICAL/MATERIAL ENGINEER

ATEXIS is an international company dedicated to Customer Support Engineering activities. As a “Solution” subsidiary of the ALTEN Group, ATEXIS combines the skills of 800 collaborators united within a network of subsidiaries based in France, Germany, Romania and India.

As a technological partner reference for the biggest companies nationwide and worldwide, in 25 years ALTEN has become the European leader in engineering and consulting services. Composed of 18400 collaborators (with 88% of engineers) – Settled in 20 countries – 1.3 M€ turnover.

We are recruiting Mechanical/Material Engineers.

Main responsibilities:

- Collects information from the Material Leader
- Integrates changes in the specifications according to the processed information
- Makes sure actual regulations are being respected
- Validates the specification with the material leader
- Interacts with the supplier through phone meetings

Requirements:

- Technical University Degree
- Materials and mechanical knowledge (steel, engine, chassis)
- Customer oriented and team player
- Good communication and decision making skills
- MS Office
- Fluent in English
- A medium or advanced level of French could be an advantage

What we offer:

- Professional development opportunities within the company
- Competitive Salary and Benefits
- Foreign language courses, trainings
- Health and Wellness

We thank everyone for applying, however only the most suitable candidates will be contacted for an interview. You can apply online through EJobs or send your application directly to office@atexis.ro.